Pretty Lace Bonnets

THERE is no doubt now that hats (or rather bonnets) made of lace will be a leading feature in head-wear for children during the coming spring. Already, those who create the styles for the public's acceptance, or rejection, have made many beautiful bonnets and bonnet-like hats, with such good success, that they will be sure to sell. They appeal to the mothers from the standpoint of beauty and utility, and more than all, from that of economy. The majority are made of narrow val lace and those of other laces as a rule will show good wearing qualities.

These pretty head coverings are made in nearly every case on a wire frame which is faced with shirred silk or chiffon. But sometimes the brim facing is also of lace. Ribbons in silk or velvet are used with them. Many small flowers, too, add to their beauty. They are set in prim and quaint fashion about the crowns, or in one or two little bouquets on the brim. Forget-me-nots, June roses, moss-rose buds, small daisies and blossoms of fruit trees remain the favored posies for little folks. Small field flowers look well with the heavier laces.

There is really a great amount of work on children's millinery, but it is not of the most difficult character. The pretty hats of lace shown here are not beyond the skill of the mother who makes her children's dresses. The wire frame must be bought from the millinery shop or the department store and covered with mull of silk before the lace and facing are put on. Usually the finished hat looks considerably larger than the frame.

Val and chintz laces are the favorites. Quite a number of novelty laces have been brought out, but are not more attractive than those we have had heretofore.

White and pale colors make up nearly all the bonnets so that a choice of colors is easy enough. Very thin silks, chiffons and laces, are used for facings. Wide, soft ribbons or narrow velvet ribbons are chosen, with small flowers for trimming.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

UTILIZING THE SOILED SHOE

Days of Usefulness May Be Extended If Article Is Not Too Far Gone.

Here are a couple of hints for the girl whose dress allowance has to go a long way:

White kid shoes which are too soiled to wear and which are still of a good shape may be renewed for evening wear by painting them with gold paint. Do this carefully and smoothly and the shoes will look like new.

In some cases even soiled satin slippers may be successfully treated in this way.

White kid shoes may also be dyed a fast black by applying the following mixture to them: Five cents' worth of gallic acid and five cents' worth of sulphate of iron.

Put the sulphate of iron in just as much water as is required to dissolve it, no more, and apply this to the shoes. Let it dry, then dissolve the gallic acid in a very little water and apply this. When dry the shoes should be a good black color. Great care must be taken in using these chemicals, and after they have been used the surplus quantity should be thrown away.

For the Wee One.

During the winter months a warm wrapper to slip over the baby when he is being taken from one room to another is a necessity. A very pretty one may be made of nun's veiling in pink or blue, with an underlining of thin wadding and batiste. The dainty little garment might be embroidered or scalloped round the edge and would prove a pretty present for baby and also a most useful one.

The wrapper should be large enough to slip on easily, for nothing jars a child's nerves more than to be forced into a coat that is too small, and if the wrap takes the form of cape it is equally necessary that it be large enough to envelop the little form when, as in this case, warmth is the object to be secured.

Dainty Lace Caps.

Lace caps are much in vogue for young girls. It takes the dainty coiffure of the maid to produce the proper effect when the caps are worn, and the bits of vanity are hardly suitable for women of years. All sorts of old lace are being utilized in the manufacture of the caps, the latter being especially desirable for theater wear. They are often finished with sprays of tiny pink rosebuds, and fit closely over the hair.

Blouses With Silk Suits.

Hand tucked tulle blouses are worn with silk suits. They are made quite simple, trimmed only with tulle or net jabots or piques.

FOR SPRING WEAR

The young woman who wants to get her spring sewing done ahead of time cannot do better than to copy this charming frock, just completed for a bride who will pass her honeymoon at Aiken. The material is white perle fabric, a soft, lustrous weave of wool with mohair, though any light weight fabric will answer equally well. The scalloped pipings and such are of gay plaid silk in red, green and white and the scallops around the bottom of the skirt are particularly smart. Beneath these scallops the little white boots show plainly. These pretty boots are of white buckskin and have the new 16 button tops.

Smart Evening Gowns.

Lace and the most gorgeous of brocades threaded with gold and silver and worked in flowers of wool or silk, or both, make up the most handsome of evening gowns. But beaded net is also used, with a softening note of old lace on the shoulders.

PROTECTION FOR THE TOTS

Cheap and Efficient Screen That May Be Placed Around the Heating Stove.

So many little children who are just toddling about get burned by falling against the heating stove, that every stove where there are children about should have some sort of a screen made about it. For several years we used one made of common 26-inch field fence, made of No. 11 wire.

Simply cut enough of the wire to reach around the stove with about six inches of space between the screen and the stove.

Make a base of 2x4 lumber, as the wire alone is not heavy enough to stay in place. It should not be nailed to the floor, but so it can be raised up or sweeping, etc.

If a heavy zinc board is used under the stove the screen can be made to just fit on the outside of it and thus be more firmly fixed in place.

Philadelphia Scapple.

Use two hogs' heads, hearts and tongues. Skin the heads, cut off jaws, split heads, removing eyes, ears, brain and tongue. Cleanse. Boil until meat drops from bones (tongues and hearts in separate kettle) and bony pieces. Cool and grind in meat chopper, saving liquor. Return meat to liquor, add water to make two gallons liquor, bringing to boil. Thicken with cornmeal, salt and pepper to taste, season with sweet marjoram, being careful not to use too much. Cook two hours. Pour into pans. Set in cool place. Slice and fry in drippings or butter, or serve cold with vinegar, as a relish.

Hint.—All meats should be "put on" in cold water. Let come just to boiling, then remove from water and wash. Kettle should be washed before replacing meat. Use boiling water the second filling. Season one hour before serving.

Steamed Beets.

Beets may be cooked in this way in about the same time that it takes to boil them, and this method is a happy compromise between baking and boiling them. To bake them is not a very economical method when the work must be done by gas, yet by this method they retain every bit of their sweetness and delicate flavor. It is best to use a little water in the pan when baking them, so they are thus partly steamed. Unless they are covered by another pan, in which case the steaming process is more complete, they will need to be turned frequently, but not with a fork, for this makes them bleed. A pancake turner is the best thing to use.

Pot Roast.

Take any kind of meat, put into an iron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter; let it brown; wash off the roast and put it into the pot. After it begins to fry pour in enough water to half cover the meat; season with pepper and salt, cover and stew slowly. As the meat begins to fry add more water; turn it often and cook about three hours. A half hour before serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips and let them brown with the meat.

Martha Washington Jumbles.

Stir to a cream one pound each of butter and sugar, and three well-beaten eggs, one pound flour, one wingless rose water and one teaspoon lemon extract. Roll out thin, cut with a ring cutter, dust over with granulated sugar and bake.

Butter Frosting.

Half pound powdered sugar, butter size of an egg. Put sugar and butter together, then beat the white of an egg stiff and add to the sugar and butter; beat thoroughly. Flavor with vanilla. This will frost two cakes.

Dropped Eggs in Cream.

Put one-half cup of sweet cream in chafin dish; heat the cream and break six eggs in cream, one by one. Sprinkle each with salt and pepper. Cook slowly ten minutes and serve on toast.

SOMETHING for the LITTLE ONES

OPTICAL TOY QUITE AMUSING

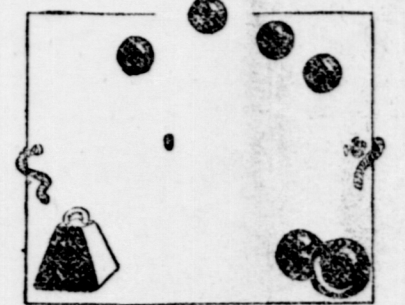

Can Easily Be Made by Using Piece of Cardboard With Two Objects on Different Sides.

How many children know what a thaumatrope is? Very few, by that name. But most of them have seen thaumatropes. The dictionary says that a "thaumatrope is an optical toy depending for its action upon the persistence of an image on the retina of the eye. On opposite sides of a disk are depicted two objects or different parts of the same object, so that when the disk is rapidly twirled around a diameter the two sides appear to be seen at once and their images are combined."

The Juggler.

Thaumatropes are not hard to make. Just cut out those pictures, paste them on opposite sides of a cardboard and twirl it by means of the string as shown in the illustration, and you will see a thaumatrope.

Reverse Side of the Disk.

OPINIONS AS TO FRIENDSHIP

Healthy-Minded Girl Faces Facts Squarely and Looks for Reasons for Shattered Idol.

"Most of us start out in girlhood with rather definite opinions as to friendship," says Anne Bryan McCall in Woman's Home Companion. "A friend should be this or that. We have the matter all settled in our minds. And then, along comes some experience entirely outside our expectation. The friend to whom we have vowed undying devotion fails us in some essential and disappoints us deeply. The structure we thought secure for all time falls suddenly. Some of us may perhaps sit among the ruins, bewailing and embittered; but the healthy minded girl faces the fact squarely and looks about for reasons."

"One reason our friendships fail is that we think of them as complete and established things. Friendship is a thing never complete—it is always in the making. A vow of friendship, no matter how earnest, is at best, only a promise to pay; whereas many of us mistake it for a payment in itself. Take any of these big qualities and requirements of every honor, unselfishness, fidelity—does it occur to you that any one of these can be established once and for all? Indeed, it cannot. Loyalty yesterday is not loyalty today, nor will an unselfish act of the day that is past serve to meet the obligation of usefulness of the day that is here. It is not a luxury, this, that can be bought and paid for and a receipt given."

CUSTOM OF SHAKING HANDS

Display of Friendly Feeling Originated When Men Were in Habit of Carrying Swords.

Did you ever ask yourself why you shake hands with persons whom you know? Here is the reason: In the old days, when every man who had any pretensions to being a gentleman carried a sword, it was the custom for men when they met to show that they had no intention of treachery to offer each other their weapon hands—that is, the hand that would be used to draw the sword, and to withhold the hand was usually the signal for a fight.

So fixed did this habit become that long after men ceased to wear swords they still offered the weapon hand to a friend and declined to offer it to an enemy. To this day when you refuse to shake hands with a person it signifies that you are at war. Among savages, who never carried swords, the practice of shaking hands is unknown, and it affords them amusement to see the white men do it.

Origin of Words.

"How did there come to be so many words in the world?" asked little Lolla, who was turning the leaves of a dictionary.

"Oh," replied her eight-year-old brother, "they came through folks quarreling. One word brought on another, you know."

Gave Up Hope

"I suffered five years, with awful pains, due to womanly troubles," writes Mrs. M. D. McPherson, from Chadbourne, N. C. "They grew worse, till I would often faint. I could not walk at all, and I had an awful hurting in my side; also a headache and a backache. I gave up and thought I would die, but my husband urged me to try Cardui, so, I began, and the first bottle helped me. By the time the third bottle was used, I could do all my work. All the people around here said I would die, but Cardui relieved me."

That the lobster is becoming extinct is the foreboding of many who may be presumed to be informed on the subject, and the next generation may know it only as a human type.

Carefully prepared statistics show that last year new churches were established in the United States at the rate of eight a day, and that saloons went out of business at the rate of thirty a day. It was progress in two directions, both right.

One of the awful facts revealed by the investigation of the dairy trust is that New York gets the best grades of butter while the rest of us must be content with inferior varieties. But only manufacturers of great wealth can afford the best grade, so there!

Militarists naturally think of the navy as our "first line of defense," for they think altogether in terms of war, whereas the normal state of mankind is peace. Our first line of defense, and one that is impregnable, is the golden rule, some times called "the square deal." This compels reciprocity in kind, and thus friendship is established between a nation as between man. Some day we shall be civilized enough to abolish armies and navies—and that will be when we learn how terrible united are the interests of all people.

The Abuse of the Automobile.

The twentieth century may fairly be called the age of speed. The trolley car, rushing through city streets and country roads, replaces the jogging horse car and rumbling stage; the fast steamers take you to England in five days; the thousand of miles between New York and Chicago is covered in eighteen hours; and mankind has almost forgotten the quiet saunter. Distances have been shortened by the bicycle, the automobile and the motor-boat; and aeroplane is to out speed them all.

Although much is gained perhaps, the physician knows that something is lost. The uses and benefits of the automobile, for example, are great if it is sensibly used; but when it is abused, the danger to those in and out of the car is even greater. Driving a high-power car at full speed is a pleasurable form of intoxication, but like all intoxication it has its penalties, and they are heavy.

The driver's eyes and nervous system may suffer seriously, although there are numerous minor ills to which he is liable that may come first, and teach him moderation. The tax on the eyes is enormous, for they are kept at constant strain, looking for obstacles and inequalities in the road. The wind and dust, in spite of goggles, often cause a troublesome inflammation that yields only to rest in a darkened room and appropriate medical treatment.

A not uncommon affliction of the eyes is a failure to focus properly; the ciliary muscles become exhausted and suddenly cease to act—a temporary paralysis that causes a sudden blurring of the vision. If that comes while the car is going at full speed, the driver is fortunate if he can stop it in time. The only course for the driver who has had this affliction is to give up the wheel, for if it has occurred once, it may occur again at any time.

Another ailment that may affect the passengers as well as the driver is a painful stiff neck caused by unconscious muscular tension. But the most serious penalty that follows abuse of the automobile is neurasthenia, or nervous breakdown. A man whose brain is fatigued with business cares cannot with safety substitute another form of mental strain for the needed relaxation.

J. N. Durall Dies Monday Afternoon.

Mr. J. N. Durall, one of the most widely known men of Muhlenberg, died at his home seven miles north of town at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, in his 60th year. For some weeks he had been suffering from a complication of troubles, and for several days it had been realized that no relief could be secured. Deceased was a civil war veteran, being a member of Co. H, 11th Ky. Vol. Infy., and with honor, being with Maj. Gen. Don Carlos Buell at Shiloh and in many other hot engagements. He was popular with his officers and comrades, and in civil life made friends with all who knew him, his keen humor, geniality and thoughtfulness appealing to all. The funeral service was conducted at Old Bethel church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Rev. P. E. Herndon, of Cave Spring, Butler county. For more than 30 years deceased had been a member of this congregation. The body was borne by old comrades, and this part of the service was very impressive to the audience, the church not being sufficiently large to seat the throng that came to pay this last token of love. After the grave had been filled one of the comrades in a few words told of the esteem in which their friend was held, and planted a silk flag at his head. The widow and children are joined in their grief by a host of people.

Kill the Fly. Why? Because—

Flyes breed in manure and other filth. Flyes walk and feed on excreta and sputa from people ill with typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diarrhoeal affections and many other diseases.

One fly can carry and may deposit on our food 6,000,000 bacteria. One fly in one summer may produce normally 195,312,500,000,000,000 descendants.

A fly is an enemy to health—the health of our children, the health of our community!

A fly cannot develop from the egg in less than eight days; therefore, if we clean up everything thoroughly every week, and keep all manure screened, there need be no flies.

Will you help in the campaign against the pest?

Malaria.

Nearly twenty years ago malaria was proved to be a blood disease due to a minute organism that destroys the red corpuscles. This organism is always introduced into the body through the bite of a certain kind of mosquito. When the mosquito bites a sufferer from malaria, it takes in the germs with the sufferer's blood. The germs multiply in the intestines of the mosquito, and travel through its body, unfortunately doing it no harm,—to the proboscis. When that mosquito bites another human being, young germs escape into the victim's blood, and there grow into the adult forms that cause the disease.

Many persons still believe that malaria can come from the ground, or the water, or the air, and they cite instances of the appearance of the disease in places where there are no mosquitos. Careful inquiry, however, will show one of three things: that the victim has had malaria before, and that his present attack is a relapse; that there are a few mosquitos in the place, after all; or that the disease is not really malaria.

Other persons say that although they have been frequently bitten by mosquitos, they never had malaria. That, however, proves nothing, for there is only one kind of mosquito in which the malaria germ can grow, and even that kind cannot transmit malaria unless it has first bitten some one suffering from it.

The way to prevent malaria is to destroy all mosquitos, for only an expert can distinguish the particular mosquito that carries malaria. It is not enough to kill them after they have entered the house; they must be prevented from breeding. That we can easily do for the eggs are laid in stagnated water, and the wrigglers live in the water until their wings are grown. If mosquitos cannot find pools, water barrels and other collections of still water, they will not lay their eggs; and if pools that cannot be drained or screened are covered with oil, the wrigglers cannot get to the surface to breathe, and so never grow into mosquitos.

Mosquitos in a room can be killed by closing the doors and windows and then burning a mixture of one part of saltpeter with three parts of dried and powdered juniper weed. It is still better to keep the doors and windows effectively screened with wire netting that has twenty meshes to the inch.

THE LINE OF THE SPINE

shown above is the curved line which truthfully presents to your eye the condition of your spine if you use a sewing machine.

The reason for this is the family sewing machine is ordinarily constructed altogether wrong. You cannot sit straight in your chair while operating your machine—try it, sit straight and square as you should, and see if you can sew on your machine; you can't. The needle is 4 1/2 inches from the center where it ought to be. To follow your work you have to twist your body to the left. This twist calls for a wrench and strain of all the delicate chords and ligaments, affecting stomach, spleen, liver, kidneys, lungs and nerves, and resulting in SIDE NEEDLE SPINE.

If it were possible for a growing child to operate an ordinary sewing machine, it would be injured for life. The soft cartilage of its spine would twist and warp, its vital organs would be injured to such an extent as to produce nervous disorders.

In schools, as you know, desks and chairs are specially constructed to avoid spinal curvature.

In factories where sewing machines are used, the work is always directly central with the operator, otherwise they could not stand the strain of the twist of the body and continue to work.

THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE machine is a new type of family sewing machine designed as a health saver and preventer of doctors' bills.

In this machine the needle is central with the work—directly over the center of the treadle. To use it calls for no twist of the spine, it causes no strain on the internal organs and consequent torture of the nerves.

With THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE machine a woman is safe in using it all day and every day, without ill effect.

Compare the two pictures—positions taken from life—and decide which you will have—THE SIDE NEEDLE SPINE, or THE CENTRAL NEEDLE SPINE.

We have printed a valuable book, "A STITCH IN THE SIDE," which is yours FREE for the asking—and every intelligent woman will want it and will thank us for bringing it to her attention.

It goes into the subject of sewing machine construction thoroughly, and explains how and why the STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE SEWING MACHINE is vital to the health of woman and growing girls, and how easy it is to buy. If you value your health and the health of your daughter—you will send for a copy at once—no obligation. It is FREE. A postal will bring it to your mail.

Prof. V. M. Moseley and family left the first of the week for McHenry, where Mr. Moseley has been elected principal of Central Park Graded School, an important position for which he is fully qualified. During his stay here he has made a host of friends, and he and his family will be missed by our people.

Window shades, door mats, curtain poles, porch seats, drawer pulls (wood, brass, glass) drapery rods, all sorts of small things for the home at Roark's.

County Teachers' Institute.

Muhlenberg county school teachers are taking their week's work of attending school, under Dr. Fred Mutchler, instructor, and they have set an excellent example by not being tardy or truant. The sessions have all proven of greatest interest, and have been of benefit to the teachers and the large number of visitors who are attending. Dr. Mutchler is winning much praise on his work, and is proving one of the best instructors we have had with our teachers. Tuesday night he gave a lecture on Agriculture that was attentively listened to by an audience that should have been larger. Last night was "Social Night" and the teachers and their friends gathered at the Graded School grounds and had a pleasant evening. Tonight Prof. T. J. Coates will make an address at the court house, and it is certain that he will be greeted by an audience of old friends that will fill the room. Tomorrow's session will close the week's work.

Tri-State Good Roads Meeting.

At a meeting of representatives of the commercial bodies and Automobile Club of Louisville held July 23, it was decided to prepare a definite plan for a Tri-State Good Roads meeting to be participated in by representatives of commercial bodies, Good Roads Associations and Automobile Clubs of Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana, to be held at either Mammoth Cave or Bowling Green, Ky., probably the latter part of September. This meeting will be preceded by "Sociability" automobile runs from Louisville and Nashville.

It is also planned that there shall be held at this meeting a barbecue, one of the old-fashion sort, and every effort will be made to make the experience of those who take part in the gathering one to be remembered.

Speakers of National and State prominence are expected to be present. Gov. Hooper of Tennessee has already signified his willingness to take part, and others will be secured without difficulty.

One of the salient points of this meeting is that it will have laid before it a well considered plan of action to be amended or changed in such a fashion as the meeting may consider wise. The improvement of three great highways will be the central thought. These are the Central Lincoln Road, the Lincoln Jackson Way, and the Jeff Davis highway, all thoroughfares of importance, whose improvement would really be a business benefit, and of inestimable advantage to the farmers dwelling along the routes.

The meeting will not only consider the making of roads but the proper use of the same. This means the operation of the automobile in every detail. Especial discussion will be given to the problem of unnecessary noise, in which the automobile warning signal plays so important a part. The worthlessness of the bulb horn, hitherto so widely used, has focused attention on the necessity of a signal capable of giving an abrupt sound, sufficiently loud to be heard above the noise of traffic in cities and the rattle of the farmer's wagon on country roads. A feature of this problem, however, is the regulation of these signals so that they shall not be misused, in the city or in the country.

Louisville, Nashville and Indianapolis representatives will soon meet to discuss the details of the meeting, which is almost the first Inter-State meeting to be held in interest of good roads with a definite knowledge of just what the meeting is expected to accomplish. Additional information can be obtained regarding the plans for the meeting by communicating with commercial bodies or automobile clubs of Louisville, Nashville or Indianapolis.

We are to have another election, as Judge Rice favorably considered the various petitions presented last Monday, asking for an election in the county on the whiskey question.

"In the Days of Six Nations," one of the best Indian films ever made, will be shown at Alice theatre tonight, admission 10c. to all.

Home of Henry Weeks Burned.

Last Wednesday afternoon, about 4:30 o'clock the home of Mr. Henry Weeks, who lives near Nebo, was totally destroyed by fire, and only a small part of the contents saved. Mrs. Weeks was ill, and a daughter had built a fire in the kitchen stove to prepare the evening meal. It is supposed that a defective flue carried the fire into the space between the roof and ceiling, and the flames had gained great headway before the fire was discovered. By the time help arrived it was impossible to save anything. The loss is a total one, as was no insurance, a policy having expired about a month before Mr. Weeks and his family have been shown the greatest sympathy by their neighbors and friends, and more than $200 in money has been contributed to their relief, besides many necessary articles that have been given them. Arrangements are being made to rebuild the home.

Messrs. Fred Heed and Orien L. Roark were in Diamond Springs the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Green and Woodburn were here from Drakesboro on a short visit to relatives and friends the latter part of the week.

Next Monday will be pension day.

Hon. R. Y. Thomas Speaks Monday.

Congressman Bob Thomas, in the home of his friends and admirers, spoke here Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock to a crowd that filled the seats, gallery, aisles and all open spaces in the circuit court room. His address was of some length, as he had many things to say, and he said them with the vigor and directness for which he is noted. He had audience with him, and was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. Thomas declared that he would again be chosen as the party leader, and showed that he was flushed and pleased with the honor in store for him.

Death of John Elkins.

Mr. John Elkins, aged 78 years, died at his home here at 1:30 o'clock last Friday afternoon from the infirmities of age that for some time had confined him to his home. He was a well known man, and was widely respected, being one of the pioneers of the county. He is survived by his widow, two sons and one daughter. Interment was in the Drake graveyard about twelve miles south of town, at 2 p. m. Saturday, and was largely attended.

SIX REASONS WHY

Congressman Thomas Deserves Renomination

The following recently appeared as an editorial in the Glasgow Times:

(1) Bob Thomas should be nominated for Congress over John Rhea because he is stronger before the people and can poll five hundred more votes in the district than Mr. Rhea can. Mr. Rhea has received the Democratic nomination in this district five times for Congress and has twice been defeated by Republican nominees. Mr. Thomas has been the Democratic nominee twice, and has each time carried the district by a pronounced majority over the strongest man the republican party could put against him.

(2) Mr. Thomas redeemed the district from republican rule at a great sacrifice of time and money when no other Democrat could have done it. It has been customary for the Democracy of the district to give at least three nominations to a Democrat who redeems the district, justice, as well as custom, requires that Mr. Thomas should have this nomination, and, as Mr. Rhea has received the nomination five times from the Democracy of the district, he ought to concede it to Mr. Thomas at least three times.

(3) Mr. Thomas since he has been in Congress has made a record for efficiency and attention to business, and during that time he has done as much for the people of the district as any representative of the district ever did in the same length of time and more than Mr. Rhea did during his entire time in office.

(4) Mr. Thomas is a man industrious habits and works. Mr. Rhea is a man of indolent habits and doesn't work, and when the people of the district pay a Congressman seventy-five hundred ($7,500) dollars per year for his service, they want a man who will "stay on the job" and attend to the people's business.

(5) Mr. Thomas is a man of robust health, physically able to do the work of the office. Mr. Rhea's health gave way during his last term in Congress, and his friends were reluctant, upon account of his health, to have him enter the race this time.

(6) The Rhea family has been repeatedly honored by the Democracy of this district. Mr. T. S. Rhea, who is a brother to John Rhea, is now State treasurer; Mr. A. G. Rhea, another brother, is now Sheriff of Logan county. If the Democracy owes the entire Rhea family a living would it not be a better policy, as well as more just, to pass the hat around for their benefit rather than keep all of them in office during their natural lives to the exclusion of other worthy and deserving Democrats?

Mr. Thomas appeals to the sense of justice and fairness of the Third District Democrats, and places before them reasons why he should be re-nominated.

TWO RECORDS COMPARED

As certain personal enemies of Mr. Thomas have for some time been industriously circulating false and misleading statements as to his employment by and his connection with the Illinois Central Railroad; now in order that the facts may be stated, and that the people of the district may be enabled to judge whether Mr. Thomas or Mr. Rhea is the freest from corporation control, let us compare the records of the two men along this line.

Mr. Thomas has for several years been a local attorney for the I. C. R. R. Co. for Muhlenberg county. His duties as such consisted solely in representing the railroad company in the trial of Civil cases in the Muhlenberg Circuit Court. His employment was in that capacity, and no other. He did not represent the railroad company in any cases arising out of violations of State or Federal laws made to control the railroad companies and prevent discrimination and extortion. There was no greater impropriety in Mr. Thomas accepting employment of the kind, which he did accept from the railroad company, than there would have been in accepting employment from the humblest private citizen in Muhlenberg county, as the terms of his employment placed him under no obligation whatever to the railway company. It simply paid him for what he did in the trial of its law suits, and neither was under any other obligation to the other. He did not represent the railroad company in any litigation growing out of any violation of State or Federal regulations, or of any labor controversy between the railroad company and its employees, and recently, when the I. C. R. R. Co., had an injunction issued from a Federal court against certain of its former employees, who were at that time out on a strike, Mr. Thomas appeared in the Federal court on behalf of the striking men, and is now representing the men in that law suit. During part of the time Mr. Thomas was representing the railroad company, he was (Commonwealth Attorney in this district, and the records of the courts will show that during that time more money in fines was assessed against and collected from the Illinois Central Railroad Company than any similar period before or since. This shows conclusively that Mr. Thomas was not under the domination and control of the I. C. R. R. Co., because the fines recovered were the result of Mr. Thomas' diligence in prosecuting in prosecuting them on trial. During part of the time Mr. Thomas represented the I. C. R. R., he has been in Congress. Now let us look at his record there, and see if the railroad company got from him any favors in the form of legislation. Under the law, as it formerly existed, whenever a citizen of this state brought a suit against the I. C.

R. R. Co., for an amount over $2,000.00, the railroad company could have the suit removed for trial to the Federal court, and this meant a practical denial of justice to the person bringing the law suit, as it would rarely happen that the plaintiff had the money to get his witnesses to the Federal court. Mr. Thomas to correct the great evil, and to afford the humblest litigant an opportunity to have his case tried in the State court in the county where it was brought, introduced in Congress a bill providing that before any suit could be removed from the State to the Federal Court, he must in controversy should be $5,000.00. His bill passed the lower house, of which Mr. Thomas was a member, largely through his efforts in its behalf, but when it reached the Senate, that body reduced the amount to $3,000.00 and in that form the bill became a law, and is the law today, greatly to the advantage of persons who must litigate with the I. C. R. R. Co. Not only is that the case, but Mr. Thomas introduced in Congress a bill to prohibit "Government by Injunction" and regulate the issue of injunctions in disputes between corporations and members of labor organizations. The I. C. R. R. Co., along with the other big corporations, fought this measure of Mr. Thomas' tooth and nail, and his position on these measures, as well as his entire record in Congress, show that in a fight between Corporate Wealth on the one hand, and the people on the other, he is always on the side of the people.

Now let us look at Mr. Rhea's record for a moment. We cannot go to Mr. Rhea's record in Congress, and get much light as to Mr. Rhea's attitude toward the corporations, or for that matter, as to his attitude towards anything, because his record in Congress was mainly one of absence; but one of the few votes that he gave while in Congress was against a bill to prevent "Government by Injunction." But we can get a clear view of John's attitude towards the corporations by reviewing a little the local history. In 1891, the present Constitution of the State of Kentucky was submitted by the Constitutional Convention (which was then in session) to the voters of the state for their ratification. That Constitution was the first serious effort that had been made in Kentucky to curb the growing power of the railroad companies; and the big public service corporations, and many provisions were put in that constitution that have proved of great benefit in controlling and regulating these great combinations of capital. Under the late Constitution it took twelve jurymen to make a verdict in a civil suit. This resulted in many hung juries, and it was very hard to get a verdict against a corporation, and that resulted in great benefit to the corporations. The new Constitution provided that nine jurors could make a verdict in a civil suit, and the corporations, of course, were very much opposed to the change. The new Constitution also provided that no railroad company could purchase, or own a parallel or competing line, and in that way stifled competition. It provided that the railroad companies and other public service corporations should be taxed upon their franchises. It also provided new and approved methods of assessing corporate property for taxation. In short the new constitution broke the strangle hold which the corporations had at that time upon the throats of the people, and the railroad companies and the other great combinations of capital, in a desperate struggle to prevent its adoption by the people fought it tooth and nail. The corporations employed the best speakers that they could get to go upon the stump and oppose it, and spent large sums in an effort to prevent its adoption. The Hon. John Young Brown, at that time the Democratic nominee for Governor, publicly declared in favor of the adoption of the new constitution, and the Democratic party was thereby committed it.

Now where do you suppose this "FRIEND OF MAN", this great "TRIBUNE OF THE COMMON PEOPLE", [as a bombastic eulogist recently termed him] the Hon. John S. Rhea, was in that fight? "Where, Oh! Where was Rhodrick then, When one blast upon his horn was north a thousand men?"

Was John then out on the stump, lifting his clarion voice in behalf of the people, and in favor of the adoption of the new constitution? No, not on your life! John was on the stump all right, but he was fighting for the corporations and against the people, and in opposition to the adoption of the new constitution. However, it may not be amiss to say that the people of Logan county failed to heed John's exhortations, and by a large majority voted to adopt the new constitution, and some have been unkind enough to say that the speeches John made against the adoption of the constitution were not worth $50.00 a piece.

Mr. Thomas' method of fighting the predatory interests is to stay at his post of duty, and consistently vote in the interest of the people whenever the opportunity presents itself. Mr. Rhea's method of fighting predatory wealth consists in causing the corporations while he is chasing an office, and then either lining up with them, when they need him, or in going off and neglecting his duty, and letting the predatory interests have their own way in legislation. We believe the people will show by their votes that they prefer Thomas' methods.

REALISTIC DOLLS NOT GOOD

Better to Give Children the Old-Fashioned Beauties They Love Than New Weird Creations.

For many generations the doll has been growing more and more beautiful; her eyes have become larger and more languishing, her rosy lips more perfect, her dimples more alluring. If every child could not be pretty, at least no child need be without a pretty doll.

But suddenly a cruel tidal wave of realism has swept over doll country. The realistic doll has come, says the Boston Herald. There is a popular demand for truth at any price, and the price in the nursery is bought at the expense of childish imagination. The installment of "real life" means the abandonment of dreamland. The realistic doll may be found upon the counter of every toy shop. It is a reproduction of ugly little people. It has squint eyes, or a snub nose, or protruding ears, or all combined. It is a weird creation of a distorted conscientiousness.

The modern child has great advantages, but it has also sustained many serious losses. Perhaps the greatest of these is caused by the literal, realistic, scientific form of education, which is diminishing as rapidly as possible the priceless gift of imagination. The doll is the embodiment of the childish ideal, the symbol of beauty and symmetry. In the kingdom of dolls here should be nothing admitted that is not beautiful; and he or she who responds against this law has trespassed against that ideal world which should be the special property of little children.

SAFETY SWING FOR A PORCH

One New Feature Is Its Collapsibility —Footrest, Keeps Women's Skirts From Floor.

A new kind of porch swing, which the makers claim has several points of advantage, has been designed by an Indiana man. One feature of the swing is its collapsibility, which makes it easy to put and take down and requires little room when it is not in use. Another feature is the footrest, which is hinged to the bottom and can be folded up, if not needed. It would probably be in use ment of the time, however, as it saves the porch floor from having paint scratched off by the feet of swingers and keeps women's skirts from dragging on the floor and becoming soiled and frayed around the bottoms. The swing fastens to the porch ceiling by chains and cannot be tipped over by children. A lawn swing of larger size is made on the same principle.

Wasn't Going to Be a Man.
"Well, little chap," said the stranger in the family, picking up one of the children, "what are you going to be when you are a man?"
"Nuffin," said the child.
"Nothing? Why not?" asked the stranger.
"Because," said the child, "I'm a little girl."

Holes for the Rain.
"Mamma," queried little Ethel, "what are the stars in the sky for?"
"Each star is a world like ours, dear," replied her mother.
"Why," exclaimed the astonished Ethel, "I thought they were just little holes to let the rain through."

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a trouble. No think of dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases. They are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—indigestion.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop to the creation of that now very popular stomach remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought this success and gave us Dr. Shoop's Restorative. With out that original and highly vital principle, no such bettering of stomach troubles was ever to be had. For stomach troubles, indigestion, heartburn, loss of appetite, and all other ailments of the stomach and bowels, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
